SPEAKER PROFILE

Christian Rodriguez, AIA

PRINCIPAL
ESKEW+DUMEZ+RIPPLE

Through his diverse skillset, Christian has led numerous studio projects, notably as project architect for the national award-winning projects Thaden School, a 30-acre master plan with a high sustainability agenda, as well as the Home Building, a key component of the campus resulting from the master plan. Most recently, Christian's work has focused on the cultural realm, serving as Project Architect for the master plan and renovation for the Olney Theatre Center for the Arts in Olney, Maryland, as well as leading a recently completed Cafe and Auditorium renovation for the New Orleans Museum of Art.

Christian brings a deep commitment to collaboration to the design process, working diligently with clients, users, colleagues, partners, and builders to translate a shared vision into impactful spaces that serve their community. Christian's work focuses on an interdisciplinary approach to architecture and design, one that integrates landscape and buildings to produce sites where the network of indoor and outdoor spaces is conceived as a unified whole.
